PROFILE

I'm a Computing and Information Systems graduate with Second Class Upper Division honors, with a strong foundation in technology, business processes, and organizational management. I am adaptable and capable of aligning my skills with organizational goals while maintaining a keen eye for detail and continuous improvement.

With hands-on experience in software development, dev-ops engineering, cloud technologies, and modern engineering practices, I have developed analytical thinking, problem-solving, and project coordination skills that are valuable in a Management Trainee role. I have experience working with technologies such as React, TypeScript, Next.js, Node.js, Django, Angular, SQL, and NoSQL databases, enabling me to understand both technical and operational aspects of business solutions.
